About us

Soft skills are more critical than ever as organisations struggle to remain competitive, but they are often undervalued. We are determined to change this.

We are the world's largest eBook publisher and we have made it our mission to help people realise better versions of themselves by giving students and business professionals access to bite-sized books that sharpen emotional, intellectual and business skills.

Our Corporate eLibrary is an online learning tool that helps companies promote soft skills, increase productivity and reduce training costs. It is now the most used eLibrary for employee effectiveness and our portfolio of happy clients includes names such as Siemens, Audi, Vodafone, The Ministry of Defence, Lufthansa and many more.
